

Certified Workers Compensation Counselor Program

Frequently Asked Questions

What is the purpose and objective of the CWCC Program?

The purpose of obtaining a Certified Workers Compensation Counselor designation is to help workers compensation stakeholders make sense of the controversial and widely misunderstood world of workers compensation. It is this misunderstanding that often results in the mismanaging of workers compensation and drives up costs. The course provides professionals with an understanding of the issues surrounding workers compensation that will better equip them to manage workers compensation outcomes.

CWCC is a comprehensive study that organizes the knowledge and skills a professional should possess to be effective in all areas of workers compensation.

How much experience do I need to take the class?

Whether you have been working with workers compensation for many years or just started, this class will increase your knowledge and provide practical applications to use right away. There are no prerequisites for this course, nor any advance preparation.

Who should attend this program?

Business owners, human resource managers, insurance customer service representatives, insurance coordinators for employers, risk managers, nurse case managers, loss control consultants, insurance company underwriters, insurance buyers, CPA's, and others have benefited from the program.

Can I use the Insurance Partners Academy logo and place CWCC after my name?

Yes, this program was designed to give recognition to a serious study and showcase the time and effort you have committed to becoming a workers compensation expert.

Is there an exam?

Final passing of the course requires full attendance, and participation in the course activities. The course instructor will distribute the case study electronically after the course is complete. Successful completion of a case study within six weeks of completing the course is required to gain your designation. The case study is reviewed in detail by the course instructor. You will receive your certificate after submission of the case study. Any case studies received past the due date provided will not be accepted.

What is required to maintain my certification?

There is no recertification required at this time; however, several courses and studies will be strongly recommended to deepen your knowledge and skill level in the workers compensation area.

Can I just do the case study without attending class?

No. The interaction and discussion with colleagues are important parts to understanding the whole picture. Any case studies received past the due date provided will not be accepted.

Can I purchase the course material without taking the class?

No. The materials are designed to be used in the class. They do not have the same value as a stand-alone product.

Can I just come for part of the program?

The course is designed to be taken in order. The various components are interactive, dynamic and reciprocal. Understanding one aspect has impact on the others, making the learning experience more valuable.

Is this a "national course"?

Yes, certain general principles apply universally; however, we address many state specific issues. We will emphasize the issues relative to the states represented in the class.
